Marine Mammal Conservancy (MMC), a Florida Keys rehabilitation center, is looking for volunteers to help save five pilot whales that have been stuck off the lower Florida Keys since late last week.

Two of the whales that were in better health, were released this past weekend and are being continually monitored via satellite tags. Two whales remain in serious condition, and two are being watched.

The MMC is requesting help for supplies and assistance. For more information on how to help visit their website or call them at (305) 451-4774.

(From the MMC website)

Volunteers will not be allowed to visit any other locations containing marine mammals to prevent disease transmission. Volunteer shifts run for 4 hours. Please arrive 15 minutes early for orientation:
